Adam Hoffman, Developmental graduate student, and Margaret Anton, a Clinical graduate student, are the 2016-17 Diversity in Research award winners!

Adam won the Ernest C. Davenport Award for his work with Dr. Beth Kurtz-Costes. Adam’s research focuses on several groups that are under-represented in research literature: African Americans, French adolescents of North African origin, and American Indians. In addition to exploring racial-ethnic identity in these groups, he has examined the interface between gender and racial-ethnic identity. Adam is also highly deserving of this award because of the multitude of ways in which he has worked for justice and the well-being of under-represented groups, including ensuring that UNC is welcoming of our LGBT students. Adam is also involved in the First Nations Circle at UNC and has played a major role this year in organizing events to celebrate Native American Heritage Month.

Margaret won the Bernadette Gray-Little Award for her work with Dr. Deborah Jones. Margaret has designed, implemented, and disseminated an evidence-based behavioral therapy program specifically tailored to enhance mental health in children from families at the poverty line. Her work has already decreased symptoms of aggression and depression in over 60 families and will eventually reach over 100. Additionally, she has disseminated and published these findings in several top-tier psychology journals, reaching thousands of clinicians and researchers nationwide. Her ground-breaking work investigating how therapy for low SES families can be enhanced by technology has led leaders in the field to seek her out as a collaborator. Congratulations to Margaret and Adam!
Welcome New Staff!

Demond Medlin joined our team as our new Human Resources Manager. He has spent the majority of his professional career in higher education, serving in both student services and administrative management roles. Most recently, Demond was the Executive Assistant in the Department of Social Work at NC State University. He’s a former member of the wolf pack, but he is no stranger to UNC, previously serving as a Student Services Manager for the Department of Health Behavior in the School of Global Public Health. Demond has a passion for all things HR and is excited about his new role. Demond lives in Raleigh with his husband, Judson, and their two miniature schnauzers. Outside of work, he enjoys spending time with his husband, traveling, and shopping.

Welcome to Demond, our newest Tar Heel!

Tre Rush is now our Facilities Manager—a new position in the Department. Tre moved to Carrboro in February 2016 from Charlotte to continue his education and to get a new change of scenery. Previously, Tre had worked with a commercial property development company and studied construction management at Central Piedmont. He loves to sketch in his spare time and design graphics in Illustrator. One of Tre’s new hobbies is web development and coding. Tre also enjoys cooking and traveling. Congratulations to Tre on his new position—we’re glad you joined us as a permanent staff member!

News, Continued.

Christina Lebonville, a graduate student in Behavioral and Integrative Neuroscience, is a Spring 2017 Future Faculty Fellow. The Future Faculty Fellowship Program (FFFP) is a UNC Center for Faculty Excellence graduate student initiative. FFFP is a semester-long program that introduces graduate students to evidence-based teaching practices, helps them understand the roles and responsibilities of faculty members at different types of institutions of higher education, and helps them reflect on their professional goals. As part of the FFFP, each fellow is expected to attend Center for Faculty Excellence workshops on teaching and learning, participate in a graduate student learning community, submit a teaching statement, complete an exercise on faculty roles and responsibilities in different types of universities and colleges, and deliver a final presentation. Congratulations, Christina!

Veronica Cole, a graduate student in Quantitative Psychology, is the recipient of the 2016 Lyle V. Jones Award. The Lyle V. Jones Award is presented annually to a graduate student of the L.L. Thurstone Psychometric Laboratory who epitomizes both academic excellence and community engagement within the lab. Veronica received the Jones Award on November 21, 2016—congratulations!

Congratulations to 5 of our Psychology and Neuroscience faculty members who are our 2016-17 recipients of the Stephenson and Lindquist Awards. The Stephenson and Lindquist Award is a departmental award and its purpose is to support the research activities of our faculty. This year’s recipients are Drs. Sylvia Fitting, Kelly Giovanello, Peter Gordon, Mark Hollins, and Keith Payne!
Winter Break Closings

The University is closed for a one-week period for Winter Break 2016: Monday, December 26 through Friday, December 30th. During this period, four days are designated as paid holidays. One day, Thursday, December 29, is not covered as a state-provided holiday and therefore has been designated as a University Closed Day on which employees must use leave (employees may use vacation leave, bonus leave, or accrued compensatory time to cover this closed day).

The University will also be closed for the New Year’s Day Holiday on Monday, January 2, 2017.

Holiday schedules are available online and questions may be directed to the Office of Human Resources at (919) 962-3071 or benefits@unc.edu.

Happy Holidays!
