Dr. Kenneth Bollen is a recipient of the 2022-2023 Cattell Sabbatical Award

For over half a century, the James McKeen Cattell Fund has provided support for the science and the application of psychology. The Fund offers a program of supplementary sabbatical awards ("James McKeen Cattell Fund Fellowships"). These awards supplement the regular sabbatical allowance provided by the recipients' home institutions, to allow an extension of leave-time from one to two semesters.

Our department's Dr. Bollen is a recipient of a 2022-2023 Cattell Sabbatical Award. He was one of the top 4 applicants this year and has been awarded the full amount of $40,000 to cover his salary to extend his sabbatical from 1 to 2 semesters in the next academic year. We are all excited by Dr. Bollen's proposal to synthesize various approaches and methods used to demonstrate causal inference.

Justice, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Updates

The Justice, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion committee has 8 subcommittees, each lead by two faculty members. In this newsletter we wanted to highlight the work of the Faculty Recruitment and Retention subcommittee chaired by Drs. Jennifer Arnold and Daniel Bauer. As with all subcommittees this year the Faculty R&R subcommittee is pursuing goals in line with the overarching aims laid out by the JEDI committee – focusing on representation, restructuring, and retention (see our blurb in the November 2021 newsletter!).

With regards to representation the Faculty R&R subcommittee is focused on successfully recruiting BIPOC faculty through utilizing existing mechanisms such as the VITAE (Valuing Inclusion to Attain Excellence) and the Carolina Postdoc hiring program and by helping to recruit diverse candidates for all new positions within the department.

This semester, the department, with the help of the Faculty R&R subcommittee successfully recruited Anna Kwaennison Fetter as a Carolina Postdoc. She will be working closely with Dr. Margaret Sheridan and others in the Developmental and Clinical Psychology as well as with scholars across campus when she comes to UNC in the fall (Go Tarheels!). Her work focuses on investigating culturally specific risk and resilience factors in adolescents and young adults who identify as indigenous or Native American in the US.

With regards to retention the Faculty R&R subcommittee has focused on feedback to the leaders in the department about enhancing the mentorship provided to junior faculty through workshops and enhanced acknowledgement of service around this kind of mentorship. With regards to restructuring the Faculty R&R subcommittee has focused on making changes to how materials for recruitment of faculty are made available to committees to increase the likelihood that a diverse group of candidates are recruited for every potential hire!

Departmental events, including diversity-related events, are posted publicly for our community at <https://psychology.unc.edu/events>. We invite you to check out upcoming events and join us! If you have a diversity-related event you'd like us to include on the calendar, please reach out to the Communication & Transparency Committee (Co-Chairs: Margaret Sheridan and Kurt Gray).

The Climate & Inclusion JEDI subcommittee conducted a survey of the department's support and networking needs. Trainee responses indicated a need for more networking and mentoring opportunities with folks outside of our department, particularly with BIPOC mentors.

This semester, the below speakers have agreed to participate in additional informal chats about their career paths and experiences after their area colloquia talks. The informal chats are open to all department trainees (postbaccs, graduate students, and postdocs). We hope they will provide you with the chance to make new connections and hear about diverse career experiences.

RSVPs are requested (but not required) via this Google Form.

Please mark your calendars accordingly, and help us spread the word! We look forward to seeing you there!

Graduate and Professional Student Government Awards

Each spring, the Graduate and Professional Student Government (GPSG) presents 4 unique awards to recognize the contributions of graduate and professional students as well as staff members who support graduate and professional studies. Nominations will remain open until March 14th, 11:59pm. Please consider submitting a nomination (commitment <10 minutes) for any of the following GPSG-supported awards:

Paul and Frances Hoch Founders Award for Excellence in Graduate and Professional Student Advocacy (established 2021): This award recognizes a student who has served as an exemplary advocate for graduate and professional students at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Nomination Form

Gwendolyn Harrison Smith Community Awards (established 2017): The award recognizes a student who has served as an outstanding advocate on behalf of graduate and professional students at UNC-Chapel Hill who are members of minority or historically marginalized communities. In addition, the recipient will have demonstrated a commitment to promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion at the University. Nomination Form

Student Excellence in Mentoring Award (established 2014): This award recognizes students who exemplify excellence in mentoring other graduate and professional students. Mentorship occurs in many different spaces on campus, facilitated by the diverse roles and responsibilities undertaken by graduate and professional students. Areas of mentorship include but are not limited to teaching, research, professional development, or academic success. Nomination Form

Excellence in Student Services Award (established 2016): The award shall be given to a current Student Services Manager at UNC-Chapel Hill. The responsibilities of student services managers vary, depending on the size and complexity of their academic units. Responsibilities can include but are not limited to, the following: registering students in classes and troubleshooting enrollment issues, coordinating scheduling and registration programs, , or supporting student organizations or student activities. Nomination Form

If you have any questions about the nomination process, please email Elena Vidrascu (elena91@live.unc.edu) or Amanda Smythers (asmyther@email.unc.edu).

Graduate Diversity Enhancement Awards for Research

Call for Nominations for 2022 Graduate Diversity Enhancement Awards - The Department of Psychology & Neuroscience at UNC Chapel Hill honors two graduate students each year for their contributions to diversity in research. See below for selection criteria and details for the two awards. Winners will be recognized with a certificate/plaque and will be announced at the Department Awards Ceremony on May 4th (time is TBD).

The purpose of the Bernadette Gray-Little Award for Diversity Enhancement in Psychological Research is to encourage and honor graduate students who make a contribution to the advancement of knowledge concerning issues that face diverse populations or that are of concern to diverse populations. This award will be given to one graduate student whose work best exemplifies a contribution to psychological knowledge about diversity. For this award, diverse populations are defined as groups who have been traditionally underrepresented in the psychological research of a particular research topic, including but not limited to race, culture, ethnicity, sexuality, gender, disability, religious affiliation, age, and socioeconomic status. If you would like to nominate someone for this award, please complete the nomination form here: <https://forms.gle/MD6SegwEgqAGPTxh7>. Self nominations are encouraged, and also please take the time to nominate your students, colleagues, and friends who are contributing to research on diverse populations. Nominations are due Monday, April 11th, before 4:30pm. If you have any questions about the award and/or nomination process, please feel free to reach out to one of the JEDI Climate & Inclusion Co-chairs: Eva Telzer (ehetelzer@unc.edu), or Anna Bardone-Cone (bardonec@email.unc.edu).

The purpose of the Ernest C. Davenport Award for Outstanding Psychological Research by a Student Who Enhances Diversity is to encourage and honor graduate students from under-represented groups who make a contribution to the advancement of psychological science. One award will be given to a graduate student from an under-represented group whose work exemplifies outstanding psychological research. For these awards, under-representation is defined as groups who have been traditionally underrepresented among psychological researchers, including, but not limited to, groups underrepresented through their race, culture, ethnicity, sexuality, gender, disability, religious affiliation, and socioeconomic status. The research conducted by award recipients need not be related to diversity. If you would like to nominate someone for this award, please complete the nomination form here: <https://forms.gle/zQPS25QGDRkU8GTV7>. Self nominations are encouraged, and also please take the time to nominate your students, colleagues, and friends from under-represented backgrounds who are contributing to psychological research. Nominations are due Monday, April 11th, before 4:30pm. If you have any questions about the award and/or nomination process, please feel free to reach out to one of the JEDI Climate & Inclusion Co-chairs: Eva Telzer (ehetelzer@unc.edu), or Anna Bardone-Cone (bardonec@email.unc.edu).

Innovation in Equity & Inclusivity Awards

Call for Nominations for 2022 “Innovation in Equity and Inclusivity Service Awards” - The Department of Psychology and Neuroscience honors “Innovation in Equity and Inclusivity Service Awards.” Up to four separate awards will be given to one faculty member, one graduate student, one postdoctoral scholar/research staff member, and one administrative staff member within our department who have each made significant, innovative, and impactful contributions to enhancing equity and inclusivity in the Department of Psychology & Neuroscience. Winners will be recognized with a certificate/plaque and will be announced at the Department Awards Ceremony on May 4th (time is TBD).

Self nominations are encouraged, and also please nominate your friends, students, and colleagues who are doing innovative work in this area!
Note that applications do NOT ask for information about who is doing the nominating (only who is being nominated).

The nomination form can be accessed here: <https://forms.gle/p1AjYg1EfjNuygck8>

Nominations are due Monday, April 11th before 4:30pm. If you have any questions about the award and/or nomination process, please feel free to reach out to one of the JEDI Climate & Inclusion Co-chairs: Eva Telzer (ehtelzer@unc.edu), or Anna Bardone-Cone (bardonec@email.unc.edu).

Innovation in Equity and Inclusivity Awards Selection Criteria:

Significance - How has the nominee demonstrated a commitment to creating a culture of inclusion within their areas of influence or implemented initiatives which cultivate, advance, or model diversity and equity within the Carolina community?

Innovation - How has the nominee’s contribution uniquely addressed key issues of diversity and social justice within the Department of Psychology & Neuroscience or broader UNC community? How does this contribution build on or innovate from existing activities?

Impact - What have been the measurable outcomes and sustainability of these contributions? How has this project/program/activity “moved the needle” in addressing issues of social inequality throughout the Department of Psychology & Neuroscience and UNC/or the community?

The award will recognize individuals with outstanding accomplishments and general impact in any or all of the following areas:

Research

- Creation of new tools or advancement of new knowledge that has the potential to improve the quality of life among historically marginalized groups in the nominee’s field of study.
- Engagement in innovative research that enhances our understanding of diversity and marginalization and improves access and opportunity.
- Development and implementation of effective strategies that address unique barriers and increase representation and inclusivity of historically underrepresented populations in research.

Teaching/Mentoring

- Development and implementation of effective strategies for teaching that advances educational opportunity for students from historically excluded groups; activities can include innovative classroom instruction and advising (undergraduate or graduate students).
- Mentoring undergraduate or graduate students who are members of groups which are historically or currently underrepresented in their field and/or whose background and experiences contribute to campus diversity.
- Creating curricula that enable the development of student intercultural competence to navigate today’s global and multicultural realities.
- Implementing effective strategies or policies that address specific and unique barriers to higher education and the professoriate for students from historically or currently excluded groups.

Service/Outreach

- Promoting the professional and/or academic advancement and well-being of historically or currently excluded groups in the applicant’s field.
- Enhancing diversity and equity through activities such as recruitment and mentoring of faculty and students.
- Participating in exceptional sustained committee work or administrative service that has enhanced policies or processes that address social inequity and advance principles of diversity and inclusion.
- Contributions to department culture, practices, or programs that have had a demonstrable and important effect in helping the department address social inequality in the UNC community.
